

RIVERMEN EXPECT UPRIVER ICE TO HOLD; NO FEAR OF FLOOD

Wharf Owners Here Less Fearful of Damage to Their Property.

Wharf and river front property owners along the Potomac are no longer fearful of a flood. Rivermen who have watched the Potomac for years declare that there will be no flood, or even high water, for the present at least. They say the current is running strong, but not strong enough to break the up-river ice.

The lower Potomac and the Georgetown channel as far west as the Aqueduct bridge, are free from ice. This ice, broken by the steamship traffic, and rotted by the warm rains of the early week, has sunk to the bottom or floated off to the bay.

From the Aqueduct bridge to Cumberland, however, the river is one solid sheet from shore to shore. The only danger, threatened to property here would come from the breaking of this ice. When the current becomes sufficiently strong to break this ice on the rocks, it thunders down through the narrow gorges of the upper river, jams and dams the flow. When the maximum of resistance is reached these gorges give way and race to sea, carrying everything before them. It is expected, however, that the up-river ice will hold, possibly till late in the spring.

MISERY OF MILL WORKERS IS BARED

Bureau of Labor Report Shows That Prisoners In Atlanta Penitentiary Are Better Fed Than Employees of Cotton Factories In South.

As sordid and tragic a tale of the poverty of labor and the unequal struggle of women and children to earn enough to pay for the bare needs of life as was ever told in a Government scientific publication, was unfolded today in the report on the standard of living among Southern cotton mill workers, made public by the Bureau of Labor.

For the purpose of gathering statistics, the Government investigators selected twenty-one typical cotton mill families and studied their incomes and expenditures in detail for the year 1908. In almost every case the same conditions were found.

The father and two or three of the older children at work in the mill, yet the total annual income of the family bread winners was often less than $1,000 a year.

The account at the company store running steadily above the family income. At the end of the year a debt, which is met by an appeal to a loan shark.

To meet the added demand of interest and principal of the debt, another child is sent to work, and so on until the trapped family has sent all its children into the maw of the mill.

Mill Demands Children, Too.

"In other industries," said the report, "the father may feel that he can never hope for anything more for himself, but he can at least plan and struggle for a better life for his children. Here the mill demands the children as well as the fathers.

"Corn bread, biscuit, pork and coffee form a large part of the diet of all families. Pork means fat pork, salted, containing very little lean.

Special Services for the Lenten season are announced today for St. Patrick's Church, Eleventh street, near G street northwest. On Sunday next, the Right Rev. William T. Russell will celebrate the high mass, Father William J. Carroll preaching the sermon on "The Catholic Church, the Mother of Civilization."

This Date Important In World's History

Ten years ago today Miss Ellen M. Stone and Miss. Tsiska were released by Macedonian brigands upon the payment of a large ransom. Fifty years ago Nashville was captured by the Federal forces, and ninety years ago today Boston was incorporated as a city.

On February 23, 1799, Congress passed the first general quarantine act. On the same date, 1847, 20,000 Mexicans under Santa Anna were defeated by 5,000 Americans under General Taylor at Buena Vista. This is also the anniversary of the acknowledgement in 1827 of the authorship of the Waverley novels. Sir Walter Scott admitted that the "Scotts of the Cross" were said every Friday at 3 p. m., and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

IMPETUS IS GIVEN SOUTHERN SOCIETY BY GREAT BANQUET

Renewed Vigor Shown In
Effort to Increase Membership List.

With renewed vigor, the members of the Southern Society of Washington, following the celebration of its first birthday last night, today took up the work of increasing the membership of the organization, and of making it the biggest society, numerically, of its kind in the country. The first banquet of the society, held last night at the Raleigh Hotel, was attended by more than 500 persons. Officers of the Southern Society today pointed out that there is no reason why double the number should not be present at the second dinner to be given next year.

Some of the most prominent persons in Congress, the Diplomatic Corps, and the social and financial world were guests at the initial dinner. The list of speakers included some of the best known orators of the country.

"The South in the Building of a Nation" was the theme of the banquet, and each speaker touched upon some step taken by that great section of the country, from the days of Jamestown to the present time.

Douglas Is Toastmaster.

Besides the numerous toasts, there was a musical program in which two of the South's best known singers participated, Miss Edna Dunham and Miss Anna Vernon Dorsey, sang Southern airs and melodies, and gave dainty impersonations. The United States Marine Band gave the instrumental music.

Charles A. Douglas, who was introduced by Senator I. R. Thornton, president of the Southern Society, was the toastmaster. Mr. Douglas reviewed briefly the strides made by the South in the last half century and pointed out its bright prospects for the future. He referred to the six great epochs in its history—the imperial South, the defensive South, the militant South, the prostrate South, the reviving South, and the fully awakened South.

Senator John Sharp Williams of Mississippi, who responded to the toast of "Jefferson," declared that in his opinion the father may feel that he can never hope for anything more for himself, but he can at least plan and struggle for a better life for his children. Here the mill demands the children as well as the fathers.

"Corn bread, biscuit, pork and coffee form a large part of the diet of all families. Pork means fat pork, salted, containing very little lean.

Australian Boys Yell Approval of Capital

Giving a variety of Australian yells to show their appreciation of the hospitality exhibited by Washington, the forty Australian boys who spent four days here left yesterday for New York, whence they will sail for Queenstown, Ireland, February 29.

They were accompanied to the train by W. F. Gude, Captain Oyster, and Thomas Grant, all of whom had cultivated a lively interest in the boys from the antipodes.

Visitor In City Is Knocked Down By Car

Knocked down by a street car at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast, August Shello, a visitor in the city, is a patient today in the Casualty Hospital. He was badly bruised about the right side of his face and forehead, but his condition is not regarded as serious.

Shello, who is a native of Germany, has only been in this country a short time.

Danderine

Makes your hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

Hair Becomes Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

Immediately after applying a little Danderine all dandruff will disappear, all itching of the scalp will cease and there will be no more loose or falling hair.

If you wish to double the beauty of your hair in ten minutes surely try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil—in a few moments your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

If you care for beautiful, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter—A real surprise awaits you.
